OTHER RECURRING ACTIVITIES

Memory Cafés are free, welcoming meet-ups that keep older adults mentally and socially active through engaging activities, occasional guest speakers, and community resources. All attendees, including family and caregivers, are welcome; however, no care is provided, so individuals needing assistance must bring their own caregiver.

Support Groups are free, confidential in-person or virtual gatherings led by trained facilitators that offer emotional support, practical caregiving tips, and a sense of community for caregivers, family members, and those living with dementia. These groups help reduce isolation and enhance quality of life.
